MRS. WENGER CALLS SPOUSE "SPORT AND WILLIE BOY"

Wife, in Reply to Suit for Divorce, Says He Has Tried to "Eliminate" Her and Children.

In answer to her husband's allegations in a suit for absolute divorce. Ella E. Wenger yesterday said she "never displayed a violent temper to ber husband, Charles L. Wenger, at any time of in any manner influenced the miserable course of his life."

Mrs. Wenger denies ever having assaulted him, and says the only contact she had yanked off his back, was when he attempted to choke her with it, and "rhe was impolite enough to resist to the extent of tearing it." She swears she never attacked him with any instrument of any kind-revolver, knife, of that iron.

Mrs. Wenger says her husband married her when his circumstances were quite humble, and that by her assistance they became a family of comfortable circum tanking. "That the dawn of prosperity was the index of a joyous life for him, if circumsy were an obstacle which he has earnestly sought to eliminate."

"With fortune my husband became a sport, "said Mrs. Wenger, "and began to consert with that chass of gentlemen and indies who, for want of a more description in the became in turn, which service dentity, are known as 'sports, and indies who, for want of a more description with the chast is common ly known as a 'Wille boy,' consorting with common women and sporty boys, and despising the restraints imposed upon him by his domestic situation."

It is further alleged by Mrs. Wenger that her husband became particularly observed about women, that he left home on Saturday, October 14 last, and did not return until he found that his then counsel could not accomplish his desire to describe the when his circumstances were quite humble, and that by her assistance they became a family of comfortable circum until he found that is then counseled her when his circumstances were guite humble, and that by her assistance they became a family of comfortable circum until he found that is then counseled her when his circumstances were guite humble, and children without cause, which did not exist.

Mrs. Wenger further avers that his chargin in his own handwriting, which fell lifts

BETWEEN KENYON STREET AND KILBOURNE STREET.

But one square from the cars on Mount Pleasant Street. In a section built up with attractive homes.

A strictly high-class resident section. Very handsome fronts. Three stories. Cellar under entire house. Some of them have covered porches in front. All of them have porches in the rear.

Ten rooms, two magnificent bathrooms, expensive fixtures. Oak woodwork throughout the dining room, oak panel with dropbeam ceiling. Two stairways. Laundry. Servants' toilet. Houses heated by a first-class, economical hot-water heating plant. "Solar" gas-heater. "Pittsburgh" instantaneous hot-water heater. Vacuum cleaning system. "Chamberlain metal weather strips." Inlaid oak floors. Electric lights, call bells, &c. Many other features of value.

Do not fail to inspect them at once, as we anticipate a quick sale at this extremely low price. A price less than that asked for houses much inferior. They must be inspected to be appreciated. The houses alone, to say nothing of the ground, would cost not less than $7,500 to build. $60.00 a month rental has been refused.
